There was no other public comment.

The commissioners discussed the project and expressed their general support for the design. In their review the Commission discussed the potential need for new fencing and the orientation and setback of the balcony. The commissioners discussed the project and expressed their general support for the design. The Commission discussed if screening should be added on the left side (corner) to address the concern in Mr. Saik's letter and if fencing should be raised in height along the right side.
