

Dear Design Review Commission,

We would like to share some background to our Accessory Building.

Our accessory building is a fully permitted structure. It is not an ADU. It is an original structure that was installed by the builder of this development. Our house has also the original two car garage that faces the front of the house. The family who built these homes lived in our house for some years and still resides in the area, with a last known address in Los Altos Hills.

We use our Accessory Building as a Home Office / Great-room.

The building was inspected for compliance by the City in 2010, when we expanded our house and when the French doors were permitted. No bathrooms, kitchens or wall heating have been installed. The room is available for viewing, should any questions arise.

Sincerely,
Mariel Stoops
