

Best out of waste

COVID has changed how we shop with most of our purchases happening online. This means almost every other day many of us receive our purchases in cardboard boxes. We can of course recycle the boxes but sustainability to me means that you find alternate uses for things that you are about to recycle.

I chose to use the cardboard boxes as a canvas for my paintings. I am submitting two such paintings for you to enjoy.

Thanks,

Shreya P

A large black rectangular redaction box covers the signature area, obscuring the name and any contact information that might have been present.

